ELW - EMVE Lean Way

Why LEAN?

EMVE have with joint forces and knowledge decided to work according to the LEAN principles, but in our own way, we call this, EMVE Lean Way - ELW.

The goal of our Lean work is to create, maintain and strengthen a long lasting trust in EMVE as a brand. Our way of working will be characterized by pride, both externally and internally. We will be a world leading brand and constantly develop our products and our way of working.

To achieve this it's crucial that:

- The entire company has a common opinion on products, responsibility, quality and customers.
- We work together towards the same goal, so that we always will have satisfied and returning customers.

VALUES

With customer and security in focus

Our goal to be the world leading brand through our products and staff creates a common direction and structure. We have chosen to assume values that focus on customer and security, both externally and internally. Our employees must be in focus and develop a lot of interest for the company and ELW. EMVE will stand for top development with goals set high.

We work for a sustainable enterprise, combining profitability, environmental considerations and social commitment.

Vision: EMVE will through world-class service and products be the customer's natural choice.

LONG TERM RELATIONS

EMVE strives for long-term relationships with staff and customers

By attracting talented employees who stay for a long time and care for our customer relations, we become our customers' recurring and natural choice. The relationship the company has with both employees and customers is family. We are all part of the EMVE family.

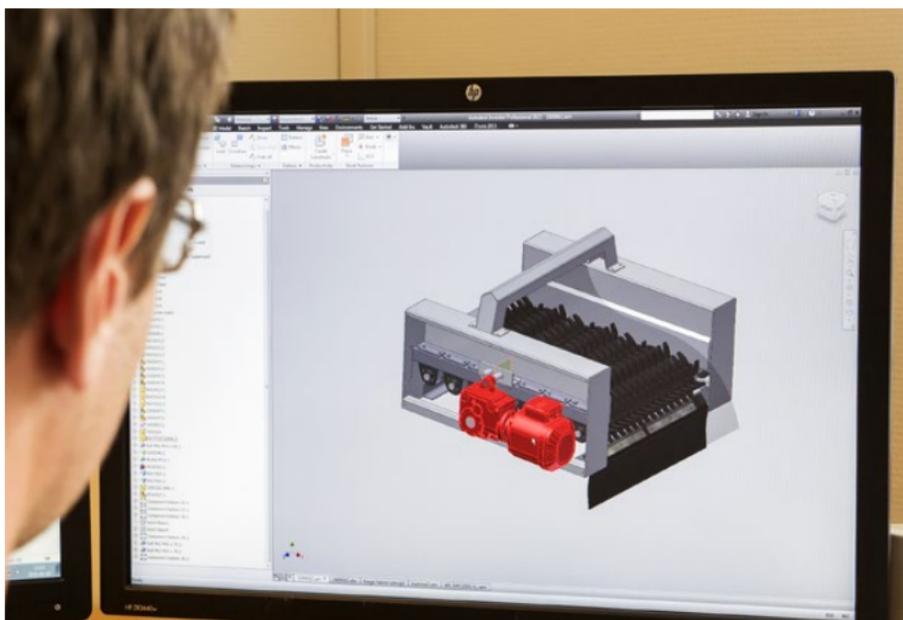

It's important for us to care for the local business community and to be an essential part of the municipality of Åstorp. The company has a long history and will continue to interact with both society, the environment and partners. We are only satisfied once we find safe solutions that improve for all actors and partners.

EFFECTIVE WORKFLOW

Clarity and correct information

A prerequisite for effective workflows is that the right person have correct information at the right time. Correct understanding of internal and continuous communication with customers eliminates misunderstandings. Therefore, we work systematically and purposefully to develop and refine our flow of information.

PRINCIPALS

Standardized working methods

We work to identify and optimize our working methods, making this our normal position. This is a big challenge as we often manufacture singlepiece machines. It is therefore necessary to identify the parts of our work processes that can be optimized.

Visualization

Our work with daily management and pulse boards, clarifies and visualizes deviations. This way we can document deviations when they occur and fix them before they have consequences and become a recurrent problem.

Eliminating waste

By visualizing waste we increase our efficiency and flexibility. We challenge existing routines and practices to detect and reduce wastes. We focus on creating space for our value creating work - developing and manufacturing machines that give us and our customers competitive advantages.

PRINCIPALS

Continuous improvement

The work of identifying deviations aims at continuous learning, more effective processes and continuous improvements that ensure continued development towards our vision.

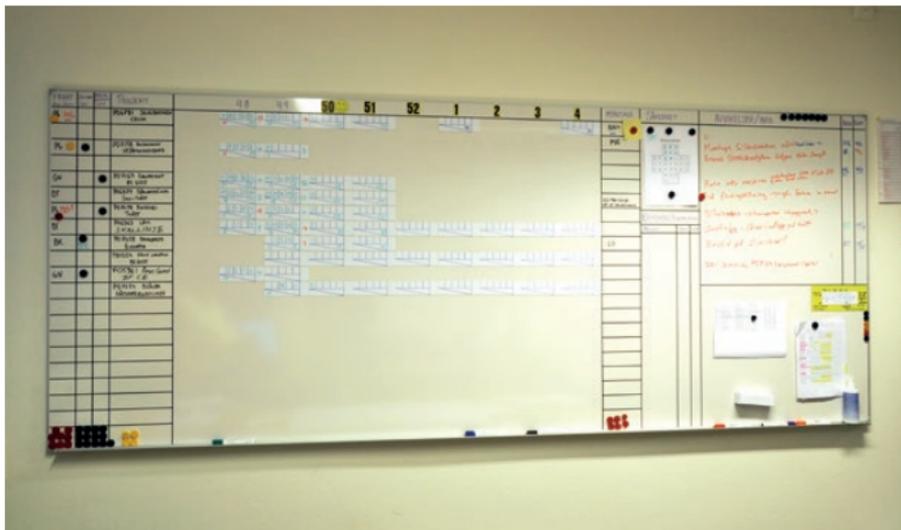

Long-term

EMVE has a tradition of working long-term both towards customers, employees and society. Minimal environmental impact and maximum security are always in focus and are a prerequisite for our continued work to be a sustainable and reliable partner.

Sustainable business

Through sustainable business we save both our own and customer resources. It's about sustainable production and consumption as well as becoming more efficient. Our goal is to maximize the positive impact and minimize negative impacts on the environment, society and people.

TOOLS

Boards for daily management

In order to be able to follow our business continuously we work with daily or weekly pulse meetings, by department or group. These pulse meetings are visualized on whiteboards.

Through this approach we create the prerequisites for our goal, that the right person has correct information at the right time. This, in turn, enables us to optimize creating value while providing time for further improvements.
